Mr. Cunningham,

Ref. Para. 2:

[redacted] is the first one I contacted about [redacted] presentation. Don reports that he has used [redacted] on his SS and he recently talked to [redacted] about Ted's (plus a couple of associates) coming back to SS 3.
Ed is skittish about the topic and apparently will come back to Don about it.

Based on Don's try, I did not convey your recommendation to Jack or to the [redacted] people.
Do you still want me to go ahead with it?

MEMORANDUM FOR: Director of Training

SUBJECT : Weekly Report of School of Intelligence and World Affairs No. 47
20 - 24 November 1972

1. Midcareer Course

The second week of Midcareer 34 started off with a trip to Cape Kennedy where the preparations for the launch of Apollo 17 on 6 December were observed. A very successful day and a half was spent at Headquarters with DDS&T climaxed by an informal session in the Executive Dining Room with Carl Duckett and four other DDS&T senior officers. Wednesday afternoon was spent at IAS. A visit to TSD concluded the week.

2. NSA Senior Cryptologic Course Visits Headquarters

The semi-annual day of briefings for the NSA National Senior Cryptologic Course was held in 1A-07 on Tuesday, 21 November with 44 students and faculty attending. The "Day at CIA" was opened by the Executive Director, who, on a few minutes notice, also substituted for General Walters in giving the closing remarks.

STATINTL The day's program was extremely well received by the visitors, and, according to [redacted] the OTR Coordinators, it was STATINTL a considerable improvement over the last NSA day. The speakers
STATINTL were: [redacted] - OTR, Paul Walsh - ADDI, [redacted] STATINTL
(also a student in the class), Carl Duckett - DDS&T, and John McMahon
- D/ELINT. [redacted]'s presentation "A Clandestine Cryptologic Operation" was received with particular enthusiasm by the students and, according to the two SIWA members present, one of the best presentations they had ever heard delivered by a member of the Clandestine Service.

3. DDS&T Career Development Course

SIWA has just received its annual invitation to develop a one-day "course within a course" on the Intelligence Community for the next DDS&T Career Development Course which begins 11 January 1973. This segment is scheduled for 14 January, and [] STATINTL will organize it.

4. DSIATP Program

On 9 November the DSIATP group from Offutt A. F. Base, Nebraska, visited Headquarters as a part of the Washington phase of their training program. OTR in conjunction with NPIC sponsored the visit.

The group was primarily interested in hearing from the CIA production officers who are the primary "users" of photo intelligence. Offices which participated were: OTR, OER, OSR, and FMSAC.

[] audited the program and also discussed it with Capt. Lowry, the DSIATP group leader. Henry felt the OER presentations were weak, that the OSR and FMSAC presentations were reasonably well done, but that all the briefings suffered from either poor selection of material covered or improper use of visual aids.

Capt. Lowry felt that the CIA presentation should come earlier in the week, and that more time should be spent on the relationship between analyst and photo interpreter - and that the entire program should stress the mutual interdependence of various collection sources and exploitation techniques.

This program has suffered for the past two years, we think, from the fact that NPIC feels it has the responsibility to design this program, and select topics and speakers. We, on the other hand, feel that OTR should work directly with the DSIATP staff in developing the Agency package. We recommended this to NPIC after the last course, but think the suggestion was left unheeded because of the recent change in personnel in the NPIC Training Branch. We plan to contact the new NPIC Training Officer for a further discussion on this subject.

5. SIWA Conference [redacted]

A planning conference was held at [redacted] on 20-21 November. The time was devoted to a discussion of each of our training programs, in terms of its development, its present status, problems involved, interrelationships with other courses inside and outside of SIWA, and its priorities within our total framework. C/SIWA also reviewed the present and future status of the School as he saw it. A discussion was also built around the experiences of SIWA staffers who have recently attended external training programs including [redacted] and [redacted]. Our secretaries provided us with some first-rate suggestions on how internal office management could be improved.

The interchange of ideas was a valuable aspect of the Conference. Each working group chairman has been asked to work up a presentation on the accomplishments, outcomes and recommendations of his group - to be presented here to the entire School in the next ten days or so.

[redacted] support was, as usual, excellent.
